Text: The shepherd boy

There was once a shepherd boy who tended his sheep at the foot of a mountain near a dark forest. It was rather lonely for him all day, so he thought upon a plan by which he could get a little company and some excitement. He rushed towards the village calling out: "Wolf", "Wolf" and the villagers came out to meet him, and some of them stopped with him for a considerable time. This pleased the boy so much that a few days afterwards, he tried the same trick, and again, the villagers came to his help. But shortly after, this wolf actually did come out of the bushes and began to worry the sheep and the boy of course cried out: "wolf", "wolf" still louder than before. But this time, the villagers who had been fooled twice didn't turn up and nobody stirred to come. So the wolf made a good meal off and the wise man of the village said: A liar will not be believed even when he speaks the truth.
